PROPERTY OWNERS INTEREST-
ED IN PASSAGE OF ROUTE 80 THROUGH CITY.

As a practical step toward insuring the passage of route 80 through the center of Stateboro, a delegation of business men have organized forces for opening a new street from the western side of the city through Brannen Park, and the city council in session Monday formally accepted the gift of the street.

While it is understood that no mention was made at the time that the object was intended to directly influence the passage of the highway into the city through the new proposed street, it is a matter of general knowledge that the highway is responsible for the activity in the opening of the new street.

Property owners through whose land the new street will pass have agreed to give free right of way, it is understood; and, in addition, a substantial fund has been subscribed to defray the expense of opening the street and building the necessary bridges and culverts. The new street will be a continuation of Blitch street, which runs in the rear of the colored school building, and near that point will divert to the left and run through Brannen Park, intersecting with West Main street near the present pavement. The advantage of this route, it is said, is that federal and state participation in the paving will be possible to a greater extent than by other proposed routes, and, in addition, this will eliminate the sharp curves which would be necessary if the highway is made to come down North Main street.

It is known that the state highway department has heretofore rather definitely announced against the North Main street route, and has suggested that the city provide a straight route from Parrish street eastward to intersect with Savannah avenue near the eastern city limit. There is considerable objection to this proposal for two reasons: First, because of the fact that traffic would be thus diverted from the center of the city, as a result of which business would suffer; and, second, because of the great expense entailed in procuring the right of way through the territory which would be thus traversed. A survey had disclosed that fifteen or twenty houses along the proposed right of way, and the removal of these and the condemnation of the necessary land makes the proposition almost prohibitive.

In the meantime there are many who insist that the proper route for route 80 is down North Main street. Mayor Renfro is outspoken in favor of this route.

There is an agreement that while the present paving on route 80 is in progress, and while the movement is on to complete the connection from Atlanta to Savannah by this route, it is well to take steps forward connecting through Stateboro. At the present time the paving of the route has already been completed to the northern city limit, and the pouring of paving was begun Monday at the eastern limit. Contracts have been awarded for eighteen miles of paving toward Savannah in Bulloch county, and the remainder of the route will be paved during the present year. Stateboro is anxious to have the connecting link through the city finished while the work is going on.

PENSION FUNDS IN ORDINARY'S HANDS

Joiner Killed Snake With Eleven Rattles

C. B. Joiner, farming four miles south of Stateboro, carries the banner for slaying the biggest rattler of the season so far as reported. There was brought to this office a few days ago a bunch of eleven rattles which came from a snake which Mr. Joiner dispatched on his farm, and which measured approximately six feet. The snake crawled into his corn field while Mr. Joiner was at work and was killed.

TEACHERS COLLEGE BOARD IN SESSION

PRESIDENT WELLS IS AGAIN ELECTED FOR PERIOD OF THREE YEARS.

At the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the South Georgia Teachers College, held at the college Wednesday, Guy Wells was again elected president for a term of three years. This period will cover the tenure of office to eight years, he having previously served five years.

With ten trustees present the board after attending the chapel exercises held a lengthy business session before the trustees. Besides the election of President Wells, who was unanimously chosen for three years, the board passed a motion authorizing the letting of contracts for renovating the three main buildings which have had very little improvement since their erection.

The trustees also passed a resolution authorizing the meeting of such requirements as would place the college on a Class A list of accredited colleges of the state.

The trustees visited the buildings, the library, the new swimming pool and the new gymnasium.

J. D. Clark, of Darien, who has been a member of the board for twelve years, holds a distinct record. He has never missed a meeting of the board. R. E. Rivers, of Glenwood, was unable to attend the meeting to day because of a meeting in Macon.

The president and the college were hosts to the board members at a luncheon served in the college dining hall on Tuesday.

The guests besides the board members included Mrs. Guy H. Wells, Mrs. Howell Cone, Mrs. J. E. McCroan, Miss Carrie Clay and Miss Mae Michael.

The members attending were: J. E. McCroan, chairman, Statesboro; Ralph Newton, Waycross; W. C. Rogers, Eastman; H. L. Howard, Sylvan; I. S. Smith, Reidsville; John G. Kennedy, Savannah; R. E. Rountree, Sw

DICKERING WITH RATES
The news dispatches of a few days ago indicated that there was a movement brewing among the railroads of the nation to seek increases in freight rates on certain commodities.

It is an easy custom for people on the outside looking in to diagnose the troubles which beset others. It has become a trite declaration that the railroads of the nation have permitted themselves to become complacent and that they are now being forced to make concessions to the public. It is not to be counted a mystery why the railroads have permitted themselves to become complacent. It is because they have been so successful in their efforts to increase their rates. They have been so successful that they have been able to pay off their bonds and to build new lines. They have been so successful that they have been able to pay off their bonds and to build new lines. They have been so successful that they have been able to pay off their bonds and to build new lines.

THE AGRICULTURAL MUDDLE
In a recent interview in The Country Home, Alexander Legge, retired head of the federal farm board, warned that the board is no fair god-mother and that farmers must help themselves. He said that the way out of the farm depression is through co-operation and organization. There is more to agricultural hard times than the surplus. Last year, Mr. Legge says, the wheat growers, who through co-operation control ninety per cent of their crop—sold it at the best price in history. The same thing can be done with wheat, with dairy products and with any other staple commodity produced on the farm.

WHERE THE STRENGTH LIES
American government is based on the theory that those who govern shall have the minimum of power and authority so that the people can keep their individual liberties, said Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in a recent address in New York City. Reviewing the functions of both the state and federal governments, Governor Roosevelt maintained that lack of the national and state constitutions was the one thought that the governing authorities be not given broad power. He complained that there was an "awful lot of misinformation" about government and that some persons even assumed that the governor was a "great white father."

SUN TANS HELP TO BUILD HEALTH
Athens, Ga., May 18.—"Fortunately for us sunshine is free and it is now considered stylish to be brown and to wear sun back dresses or sun suits. Of course, Dame Fashion may change all this, but if people once adopt the comfortable athletic costume I believe they are apt to stick to it," says Prof. Virginia Harris Harrold, of the home economics division of the Georgia State College of Agriculture. "During May, June and July the ultra-violet or health-giving rays of the sun are more beneficial than any other time of the year. During this season only fifteen minutes exposure a day is sufficient to make a child's bones straight and smooth if he has building materials from milk and vegetables. But during these potent months we need to store some of this valuable material for the long winter months and cold, dark days when we can't receive it. So, mothers of Georgia's happy girls and boys, let's keep them out of doors all the time and as soon as it is warm enough let them go barefooted, bare-headed and wear as few clothes as society will allow."

"WHO'S LOONY NOW?"
Well, the lowly mosquito is coming into his own. For the past half century we have been listening for a good word in his behalf, and none has been said. Not only has he been dubbed a nuisance, but science has called him a criminal. As a carrier of malaria he scattered death. He spread yellow fever and malaria in his wake and every hand has been raised against him. He has been an outlaw. Flyswatters and exterminators have met him at every turn. Screen doors have forbidden him to enter. But today the mosquito is being crowned. Science has discovered that he is a sure cure for insanity. In the state in which we live, at the town of Albany, it is said mosquitoes are being artificially bred as a cure for insanity. This brings up the question, "Who's loony now?"

A New York man was sent to prison for stealing an accordion. But the neighbors of the owner would probably give the thief a vote of thanks.

UP GOES GAS TAX

Ten states have increased their gasoline tax rates so far this year, and others are contemplating similar moves. At present the average tax rate for the nation is 3.98 cents per gallon and it may exceed 4 cents before the dawn of 1932. However, it is interesting to note that the new high rates went into effect in the face of constantly growing opposition. In North Dakota, for example, the voters defeated a projected referendum proposal in November—only to have the legislators pass it later on. In Washington, where the rate was jacked up two cents a gallon, motorists are busy seeking a referendum, and a one-cent increase in Maine was passed only after a long and bitter battle in the legislature.

It may be that the tendency toward higher rates will be a good thing after all—the higher the tax rate, the sooner the public will take action. "Worm motorists" is rapidly reaching the point where he will turn, as five and six-cent tax rates stare him in the face.

A French chef declares that his most appetizing dishes are "inspired by music. Jazz should inspire a wonderful new brand of hash."

SCHOOL STUDENTS LEARNING MUSIC

BULLOCH COUNTY TAKES LEAD AT GEORGIA EDUCATION MEETING IN MACON.

(Contributed)
Mrs. Marion Cooper Smith, superintendent of public school music in Bulloch county, who has just closed a most successful year, has been unanimously re-elected for another year. Bulloch is the only county in the state having public school music as a county system with a supervisor. This fact has received favorable comment from state educators throughout the state and is due to the keen foresight and progressiveness of the county education department headed by B. R. Oliff. Bulloch county is and should be proud to be the leader in this particular line of education which gives every child the opportunity and privilege of enjoying the fine arts. Others are now following this lead and movements are being backed all over the state.

At the recent Georgia Education convention Mrs. Smith carried fifteen boys and girls, one from each high school in the county, to Macon to sing in the all-Georgia high school chorus. This chorus was made up of some 200 high school students from various cities in the state and presented under the very able direction of W. P. Giddings of Minneapolis, a splendid program of difficult music from the masses, Mendelssohn, Gounod and others. The Friday night feature of the convention. There fifteen Bulloch boys and girls were the only representatives of the rural schools, other singers being from Atlanta, Macon, Savannah, etc. Their leader, Mrs. Smith, was selected to be the official accompanist for the program.

On May 2nd Bulloch county again demonstrated the unusual talent which may be developed in all children in the presentation of a spring festival which included some 3,000 of the rural school children. With the hearty cooperation of parents and teachers throughout the county, under the supervision of Mrs. Smith, this very successful program of fine music and folk dances was given at the Statesboro fair grounds in observance of children's national play day. Despite unfavorable weather conditions and the handicap of only one rehearsal the program proved to be the most beautiful and enjoyable of any program of this sort ever given in Statesboro. Certainly the purpose of the day set aside by national authorities as a children's day, was achieved. This was not the only achievement, the cooperative attitude of the citizens of Statesboro. Acknowledgment of fact.

vors are due to merchants, to the city police force, to the National Guards, Boy and Girl Scouts and to many others who helped to make the day a success by giving time and money for decorating floats, health windows and various other ways.

It is just as safe to guess that it is the highlight nearest to you that is out.

SUREST CONTROL TOBACCO WORMS

IF NOT PROPERLY HANDLED THE HORNWORM WILL TOTALLY DESTROY TOBACCO CROP.

(By J. M. PURDOM, Assistant Agricultural & Industrial Agent, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, Statesboro, Ga.)
The hornworm, the large green worm that feeds on tobacco, is familiar to all tobacco growers, and when effective measures for controlling them are not used they may occur in such numbers as almost to ruin the crop. When first hatched they are small green worms, about the thickness of a pin, but grow rapidly, eating as they grow, and in a short time will attain a size as large as a man's finger. A full grown worm if left undisturbed will literally eat up a tobacco plant in a very short while. Three or four broods usually hatch during the growing season, and the number in each brood increasing unless the preceding brood has been thoroughly exterminated. The later broods are harder to control than the earlier ones because wet weather usually sets in and it becomes more difficult to observe, or the eggs are seen on the under side of the leaves where the moths deposit them, control measures should be started.

The best method of control is by poisoning. Picking them off by hand is both expensive and inefficient, but of course, while the growing crop or doing any kind of work in it a close watch should be kept and all worms that are seen should be picked off and killed. Arsenate of lead is the most generally used poison because there is practically no danger of burning the leaves. Calcium arsenate, however, is equally effective, and since its manufacture has now become well standardized there is very little danger of poison burn resulting from its use.

The poison may be applied either by dusting or spraying. Good control can be had by either method. Where only small acreages are to be poisoned spraying with hand sprayers is usually more economical and satisfactory. Where large acreages are involved the horse-drawn dusters designed for dusting cotton are very effective and their use saves considerable labor and time.

When applied as a spray two pounds of either arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate should be mixed in fifty gallons of water. Hornworms while they are small are quite easy to kill, but if they are allowed to grow to full size three or four pounds of the poison should be used if fifty gallons of water. When applied as a dust three to six pounds of either of the poisons should be applied per acre at each dusting.

With either method great care should be used to apply the poison uniformly. When spraying this can not be done unless the mixture is kept constantly agitated. When the crop has been properly sprayed the poison may be seen only as a faint gray coating after the mixture has dried. Rains quickly wash the poison off, and the crop should be poisoned as often as necessary to keep the hornworms under control.

Paris green is a much stronger poison than arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate, and due to the danger of burning the leaves with it, its use is not recommended unless one is thoroughly familiar with its use and the conditions under which it is safe to use it.

In handling any poisons on the farm caution should always be used to keep them away from livestock and feeds.

In his write-up of a home talent play an Oklahoma editor commended a neighbor for his "clever impersonation of a gentleman."

"A recent survey declares that the average husband prefers a wife who can cook." Those survey experts are simply finding out everything.

Ogeechee School News

The May meeting of the Ogeechee P. T. A. was held May 12 at the school house. Every one present was glad to hear the yearly report of the different officers and committees and gratified that so much has been done during the year. The outstanding project for the whole year was to have the building painted on the inside. This was completed and some other smaller projects. About thirty-five new books were added to the library, quite a lot of shrubbery has been planted, three children were provided clothes and shoes in order that they could attend school. Each room received at least one standard picture during the year and some of them more.

We feel that the use of grade mothers has been a great success during this year. Not only did they visit the school and serve the children, but they made a quilt that brought $50 and Mrs. Ben Lee gave the most expensive gift, a quilt which brought $13 as a prize to the most popular girl in the community.

The officers for the ensuing year were also elected at this meeting. On Thursday night the grammar grades sponsored a program consisting of readings, musical numbers and choruses. Ice cream was sold after the program. On Friday the concluding program was given by the graduating class in the form of a play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills." The high school girls rendered three numbers taken from the selections given by the state chorus in Macon last month. The members of the seventh grade were given their certificates of promotion. The names of those getting attendance certificates were read. There were several getting three-year certificates and some getting them for longer than this. Gifts were given those mothers who had done a special favor for the school.

Summer School Round-Up
The Ogeechee P. T. A. aided Mrs. Lofseff in conducting the round-up of pre-school children. Twenty-two children were examined, most of whom were found normal. Dr. R. L. Cone and Dr. J. H. Whiteside were the physicians that made the examinations. We feel that this will be a great help to our school and hope to increase the number in this round-up next year. We appreciate the work done by Mrs. Lofseff along this line.
